

Concacaf
WOMEN'S UNDER-20 CHAMPIONSHIP

MEXICO

- Mexico will be making its 13th appearance in the Concacaf Women's Under-20 Championship, returning after competing in the 2023 edition held in the Dominican Republic.
- The team debuted in the 2002 edition in Trinidad & Tobago, earning a 1-1 draw against Jamaica on May 7, 2002.
- Mexico has claimed the championship title twice: first in Haiti 2018, defeating the United States in a penalty shootout after a 1-1 draw (4-2 on penalties), and again in the 2023 edition in the Dominican Republic with a 2-1 victory over the United States.
- Throughout the tournament's history, Mexico has reached the final on seven occasions, winning two titles (2018 and 2023) and finishing as runners-up four times (2010, 2014, 2020, and 2022).

CANADA

- Canada will be making its 11th appearance in the Concacaf Women's Under-20 Championship, returning after competing in the 2023 edition held in the Dominican Republic.
- The team made its tournament debut in the 2004 edition on home soil, defeating Jamaica 4-0 on May 27, 2004.
- Canada has won the championship twice: first in the 2004 edition in Canada with a 2-1 win over the United States, and again in the 2008 edition in Mexico with a 1-0 triumph over the United States.

- In total, Canada has reached the final five times in the tournament's history, securing two titles (2004, 2008) and finishing as runners-up on three occasions (2006, 2012, 2015).
- Canada is the only former champion that participated in the 2025 Qualifying Stage.

PANAMÁ

- Panama will be making its eighth appearance in the Concacaf Women's Under-20 Championship, returning after last competing in the 2023 edition held in the Dominican Republic.
- The team made its debut in the 2002 edition in Trinidad & Tobago, earning a 3-3 draw against the host nation on May 7, 2002.
- Panama's best result came in the 2012 edition on home soil, when it played for third place but fell 5-0 to Mexico on March 11, 2012.
- The team's largest margin of victory came in the 2022 edition in the Dominican Republic, with a commanding win over Guyana on March 4.
- Panama holds the record for the most defeats (17) by any Central American nation in the history of the Concacaf Women's Under-20 Championship.

NICARAGUA

- Nicaragua will be making its fifth appearance in the Concacaf Women's Under-20 Championship, returning to the final stage after last competing in the 2022 edition held in the Dominican Republic.
- Of all the teams set to compete in the 2025 edition, Nicaragua is the only one that has yet to record a victory in the tournament's history (11 losses – 1 draw).
- The team made its debut in the 2008 edition in Mexico, falling 2-0 to Canada on June 17, 2008.
- Nicaragua has always competed in the group stage but has never advanced beyond it.
